Course Preferences

Please list courses in order of preference. Thesis-based LLM students in their first year should ordinarily enroll in two courses per semester, including Law 703 and 705. The other two courses must be at the 600-level or higher. Students seeking a specialization in NREEL must complete these two 600-level courses in the NREEL area. Please provide at least one extra, backup course each semester. Although graduate students seldom are take courses outside of Law, if you are interested in such courses or in directed research courses, please contact the Graduate Program Director to discuss your ideas. Further information about requirements and courses is available on the Current Graduate Students website.
